LOVE

It seems that we being surrounded by hatred, envyings and strifes; the subject of love should be given more careful study and consideration. It is impossible to be well pleasing in the sight of the Lord and have hatred toward our fellowman. There are many ways by which our love may be shown to each other.

"Charity suffereth long and is kind, charity envieth not; charity vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up." (I Cor. 13:4)

The perfect exercise of love includes our whole duty to God and our fellowman. God's love for us is manifested in Jesus Christ who died to save the world. Christ's love is manifested in his willingness to be sacrificed for sinners.

The test of love is the surrender of personal ambition and a complete abandonment of self in our devotion to another. We are to not only love those to whom we may look for praise or high standing in society, but also to love our enemies. If we have been wrongfully treated or mistaken we should not hate or avoid those in the act, but rather help and show our devotion to them in every way possible. Love is the predominating grace, the force that moves people ever on. If you are without it, cultivate a mutual love, for only those who love have love to give and we get and keep love by giving it.

"And now abideth faith, hope, charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity." (I Cor. 13:13).
