A CORDIAL WELCOME AWAITS YOU

“Jake and Jenny”

A man from Double Springs, Alabama, owned a pair of mules named Jake and Jenny. Jake was a raw-boned, stout mule weighing about eleven hundred pounds, and had no fat. Jenny was a blocky-built mule and weighed about one thousand pounds. When pulling the wagon, Jenny would walk beside Jake and help guide the wagon, but did very little pulling as long as the wagon was on level ground and the going was easier and more routine. But when the going got hard, like pulling up steep hills or through sand or gravel, she'd pull her weight and more. Then, when the pulling became easy again, she'd let Jake carry the load.

I'm convinced that a husband needs a wife who won't strive to take his lead as she walks beside him; and when the going gets rough, she helps him over the rough spots. Likewise, a wife needs a husband who will pull his weight and lead responsibly, and will seek her help when it's needed. Jake and Jenny were a great team, pulling together. And every once in a while, he'd take her to her favorite briar patch for a treat. She'd smile just like a mule eatin' briars. How 'bout you? Happy Valentine's Day.

—Frank

ELDERS CORNER:

Another letter from a graduate of ZSOBS stating his plans when he returns home.

My name is Patrick Muntanga. I am a married man with five children born to us. My wife and I are Christians. We are farmers by occupation. I also take care of my Mother. I only depend on my wife when I am not there, it is not easy for do farming on a small scale. We don't have the capacity to buy some inputs (fertilizer and seeds) . This year will be hard for us due to the fact that we have no starter for I was away for some time now.

My congregation started way back from 1976. When it started there was no trained preacher. I will be the first one. The church has two men who are serving as elders. It is also composed of old women, widows and orphans. It also has young men and women who are eager to learn from the word of God.

When I get back, I will continue with some programs which I already started. I have a program with young men who want to study and learn how to prepare sermons. I was also given to continue teaching on leadership, role of women in the church and also going to continue helping church we planted at near by village. It is still in infancy stage. I will also be involved in helping these old widows in some ways.
