“A Great Way to Learn More about God’s Word”

Could I learn anything new about 1&2 Thessalonians or Galatians? Do I already understand that book and have no further need of studying it? Well of course I understand that I won’t understand everything or know everything there is to know about those “books of the Bible,” but do I really need to know anything else about them?

For that matter, do I need to know anything about the Old Testament? Do I have a good working knowledge of that part of the Bible? Is there anything I could learn from studying it? What about New Testament Greek? Is there any value for me in studying that? It would be nice to know some Greek so I could have a richer, fuller understanding of the Bible wouldn’t it? How about the book of Genesis? Do I know everything I need to know from that Bible book?

I can’t imagine what Hermeneutics would mean to me, after all, I can rely on someone else knowing how to interpret the books of the Bible. Is Homiletics something I need to know about? After all, isn’t that the preacher’s job? Do I need to know anything about how to write a sermon? Isn’t it easier to just leave that to the preacher? I know I could use a refresher course on English and Grammar, but is that really necessary for me?

I suppose a person could reason him or herself out of taking any courses at NCSBS, but why should they? These are the courses being offered this Fall quarter at NCSBS. If you would like to learn more about these topics you can either take the courses for credit – or just audit them. Either way, I believe you could benefit from any or all of the courses. There’s a signup sheet on the bulletin board in the foyer. Sign up for one or all of them. It’s a great way to find out something about the school first hand and it’s a way of learning more about God’s Word.
