...Now look at the title of this article. We know what AI is, but what is IAM? I purposely removed the spacing from IAM; now let me put in the space. AI knows absolutely nothing compared to what I AM knows. When Moses asked God what he should tell the Jews in Egypt if that asked for God’s name. The Divine answer is, “I AM” (Ex. 3:14). I AM is omniscient in that He is all-knowing. He knew the content of every book that has been written or ever shall be written, before they existed. I AM has total understanding, and because He became flesh, we know He is touched and understands all our feelings (Heb. 4:15). I AM has given a Book that deals with every ethical decision of every ethnicity and has written a Book in such simple words we can understand it. I AM gives simple, perfect instructions as to how to deal with every specific social situation (2 Pet. 1:3). I AM knows the future, He knows the end from the beginning (Isa. 46:10). I AM allows personal choices, but He sets the boundaries. Never trust AI over I AM. There is no comparison!

AI vs. IAM
Dan Jenkins

Artificial Intelligence (AI) is truly impacting our lives in ways we cannot begin to imagine. You can never be positive if that telephone solicitation call you get at dinner time is made by a human or an AI “robot.” The most powerful application of intelligence knows so much, for it has “read” everything ever written by anyone and seems to know the answer.

I asked AI the question, “Is there anything that AI does not know?” and was surprised at the answer. It suggested there were several things AI could not give a trustworthy answer to guide you.

(1) AI affirmed that it does not have emotional intelligence. It lacks the ability to experience or understand human emotions.

(2) AI affirmed that it cannot accurately deal with questions that require ethical decisions. While it can be programed with human ethical values, it cannot grasp the complexity of moral reasoning.

(3) AI affirmed that it cannot deal with contextual understanding. It does not have the answer that requires deep contextual knowledge. Answers that depend on specific social contexts or historical backgrounds cannot always be given.

(4) AI affirmed that it cannot give future predictions. It might identify patterns, but accurately predicting future events is beyond its ability.

(5) AI affirmed that it cannot give answers to personal taste or subjective experience. These choices are inherently subject, and AI cannot deal with personal subjective matters.
