LEADERSHIP LECTURESHIP

Next weekend will mark a milestone for this congregation and the North Carolina School of Biblical Studies. It will be our first lectureship. If you have read the sign out front, you know that the theme is leadership. One of the things about leadership is that it takes courage and determination to not only give direction to others, but to set the example as a leader.

Warner's Chapel has set an example of leadership in many important areas of labor in the Lord's vineyard. not the least of which is a sound eldership. One of the reasons our school is called a school of Biblical Studies is that there is a need to train men to be leaders in the Lord's church as well as training men to preach. This lectureship is a part of that endeavor.

One aspect of leadership that we all agree on is that leaders need to set the example. As a congregation in the state of North Carolina, as well as the brotherhood overall, this congregation serves as a leader in standing for the truth. As part of this congregation you will have an opportunity to play a part in providing an example of leadership by your support of this lectureship. People have understood that the school is a work of the congregation and that it is a great work. But now, people will be looking to see if we back up that leadership role with the support of our attendance at this lectureship.

What would it say to those who would consider coming here to equip themselves as preachers and/or leaders, if we filled the auditorium with our attendance? It would say volumes. On the other hand, what will it say if everyone says, “Oh, I had to do something else that day.”? As we step in to difficult times, as a congregation of the Lord’s people will we provide the example of leadership that others will recognize? We look forward to seeing you June 6th at the first lectureship of the North Carolina School of Biblical Studies!
